

MY MENTOR: MS. FEES

By Goodness Mulero

WHO IS MS. FECS?

Ms Fecs.

The kind of leader and mentor who shows up like a friend but still speaks like someone who has already walked the road You're on.

The background of the image is white, framed by large, expressive black ink splatters and brushstrokes. These marks are concentrated in the corners and along the edges, creating a sense of raw energy and artistic spontaneity. The central text is set against this clean white background.

HER MENTORSHIP STYLE

Fegs didn't lead from a distance. Her style was simple:

FRIEND FIRST. MENTOR ALWAYS.

Fegs didn't do small talk for the sake of it. Her style was direct. She said what she meant and meant what she said.

She would clearly tell you the hard truth and somehow make you feel supported while hearing it.

INTERNSHIP MOMENTS

Stage 0. Slack was so confusing, I was lost but fegs walked me through it, without making me feel slow.

She did something better than answer my questions, she connected me with people.

Those people became my support system, they became my (yamski's).

WHAT MADE HER STAND OUT

Honesty Without Harshness. Fegs could call out your mistakes and errors directly and somehow you'd walk away motivated, not wounded.

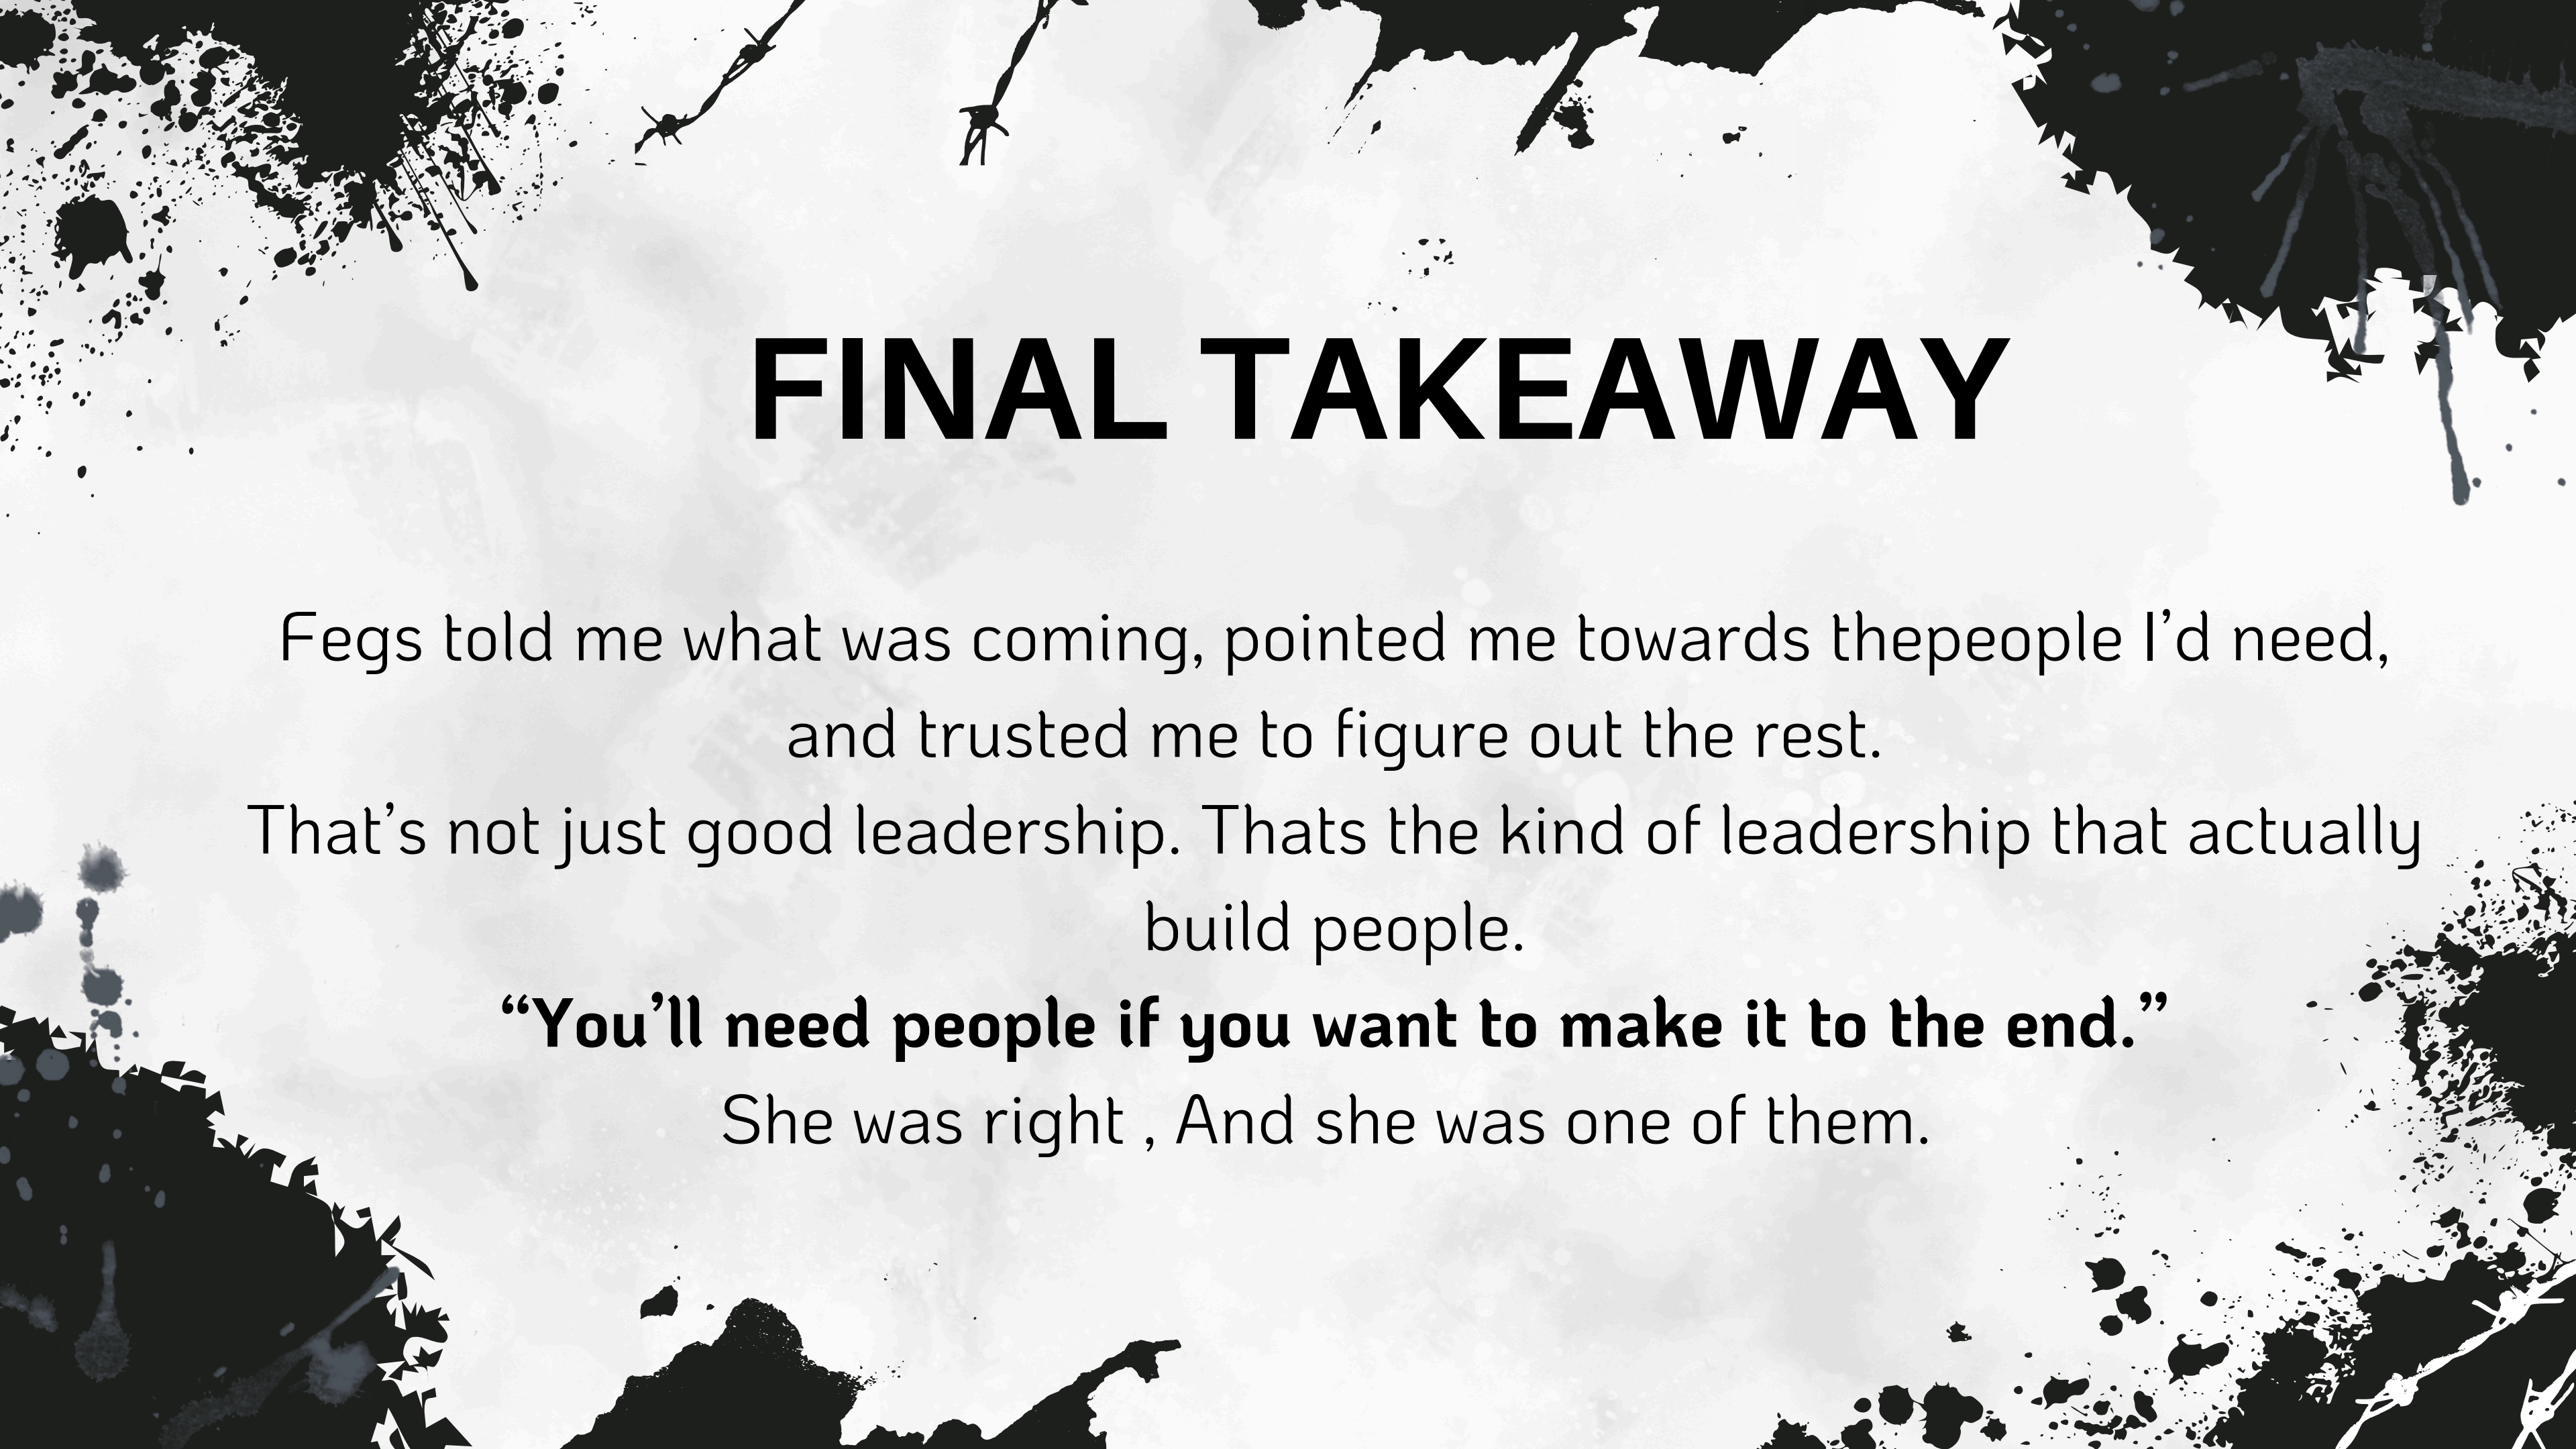

Read the Room Every Time. She knew when to joke and when to be serious. Even when I got carried away, she brought the balance back every single time.

FOR FUTURE VA AND MENTORS

If there's one thing to take from Fegs, it's this:

- Learn to communicate like a human, not just a professional.
- Know when to be formal, Know when to drop the formality.
- Know when someone needs information and when they need encouragement.

The best VAs aren't just organised and efficient. They read people. They adjust. They make whoever they're supporting feel like they're in good hands.

FINAL TAKEAWAY

Fegs told me what was coming, pointed me towards the people I'd need, and trusted me to figure out the rest.

That's not just good leadership. That's the kind of leadership that actually build people.

“You’ll need people if you want to make it to the end.”

She was right , And she was one of them.

The background is a high-contrast, abstract composition. It features a light gray, textured surface that resembles watercolor or ink on paper. Overlaid on this are various black elements: large, irregular ink splatters and blotches, particularly in the corners; thin, dark, branching lines that look like ink drips or fine brushstrokes; and some sharp, angular black shapes. The overall effect is one of raw, expressive energy.

THANK YOU